New Year's Message Premier Of Alberta

As we cross the threshold into a new year, it is with pleasure that I extend, personally and on behalf of my colleagues, sincere best wishes for a happy, purposeful and prosperous 1969. Before we close the door on 1968, I truly trust that the old year left you with some measure of joy, happiness and pleasant memories.

As a province, we experienced positive progress during the past year, characterizing the dynamic growth of Alberta's economy, which we have every confidence will continue through and beyond 1969. All major areas of our economy, with the exception of grain farming, showed substantial gains. As a result of weather conditions, crop yields were variable and grades suffered due to wet harvest weather and early frosts. While the cash return to farmers showed a 25-million-dollar increase for livestock and dairy products, the over-all farm cash income is expected to be down about 3 per cent on the figures presently available.

In other economic developments, mineral production, basically crude oil, natural gas and sulphur, registered an increase of 11 per cent to 1.1 billion dollars and the outlook for coal production is bright for 1969 and future years, in view of the firm contracts which have been signed with Japanese interests.

Construction programs in the province registered a 16 per cent investment increase during the year and there will be a substantial carry-over of work for the winter months well into 1969.

Manufacturing shipments were 5 per cent higher than in 1967, indicating a total for the past year of 1.6 billion dollars - double the volume of only 10 years ago.

While the incidence of strikes was abnormal for Alberta, unemployment during 1968 was minimal and labor income 10 per cent higher than the previous year. In dollar terms for Alberta, most figures have been encouraging but it is early, as yet, to determine to what extent the apparent increases represent inflation and to what extent they are "real". Nevertheless, 1968 was characterized, in Alberta, by its continued dynamic growth which, as mentioned earlier, should continue through 1969 and beyond.

Before closing, I would like to pay tribute to the Honorable Ernest C. Manning, whose vision inspired the development of our social and economic life to its present position. Few men have devoted so much of their time and life to the services of the citizens of my realm. His leadership, diligence, honesty and interest in the freedoms and involvement of the individuals in public affairs, all combined to earn him the recognition he so richly deserves as Canada's leading statesman. While we have lost him as Premier of Alberta, he is not retiring to a life of inactivity but will turn his great abilities to the serious public problems facing our country as a whole.

I know you would wish to join with me in expressing our deep, and sincere thanks for his devotion to public service for over 33 years, and over 25 years of that as Premier. Our wishes for him are God's richest blessings in all his future endeavors.

Again, to each and every one of you, every good wish for a happy and prosperous New Year.

OMRPC Fees To Be Increased

James Hartley of the Old Man River Regional Planning Commission attended Coleman council this week and informed council that membership fees in the Commission would be slightly increased this year.

Mr. Hartley spoke on the work the Commission has completed so far, and advised that a full report would be presented to council in February. A question period was held regarding the surveys made recently by the Commission and all questions were favorably answered.

Permission was granted to the Alberta Heart Foundation Association to hold a house to house canvass in February.

Town foreman Rudy Szymanek reported that a 22 foot high Christmas tree has been erected in the town park and strings of colored lights have been installed on the tree. Erecting the tree is part of the town's program for decorating during the festive season. Plans will be expanded each year.

John Russell Wins Home Decorating Lighting Prize

Mayor John Holyak and members of council announced that the winner of the first prize in the town of Coleman electric decorating contest for the holiday season was awarded to John Russell. Other prizes were awarded to Mrs. Erna Malanchuk, George Hurtak and William Kozak, for the colorful decoration and displays they arranged for the Christmas season.

The best Commercial window decorating prize was awarded to the Satellite Restaurant. Judging was done on Sunday evening, December 29th.

St. Paul's UCW Make Donation

St. Paul's United Church Women in Coleman decided at the December meeting that in lieu of their annual exchange of Christmas gifts, the money was to be collected and sent to the "Cup of Milk Fund".

Representatives of the Coleman U.C.W. reported they had attended a meeting earlier in December with ladies of other Crows Nest Pass Church groups to discuss a joint project to raise money for the starving children of the world. Plans will be announced when finalized.

Date for the next whist drive, sponsored by the UCW was set for Saturday, January 11, starting at 8 p.m. All are welcome to attend this event to be held in the Church club room.

Certified Nursing Aids Organize Layette

Olive Smith, president of Crows Nest Pass Certified Nursing Aids, announced the groups are extremely pleased with the response shown by local merchants towards the Layette being sponsored by the Aides for the first baby born in the Crows News Pass Hospital in the New Year.

Mrs. Smith announced that so far 10 donations or gifts, have been received from Bellevue merchants and businessmen, and 15 from Coleman.

Further contributions may be made to the Layette by contacting Mrs. Smith at Coleman.

In 1975, more than twice the number of trees will be planted in Canada than in 1968.

Coleman Lions Donate Diathermy Unit to Pass Hospital

The Crows Nest Pass Municipal Hospital was recently presented with a Diathermy machine by the Coleman Lions Club. The unit was purchased at a cost of approximately $1100.

The hospital was also recipient of a cash donation from the Crows Nest Pass Citizens Reunion Club of Calgary. These monies will be used in the purchase of a fibre optic type cystoscope for the hospital.

The hospital board at its December meeting appointed Joe Zemek of Frank as chairman of the board and William White of Bellevue as vice-chairman.

Hospital administrator Ernie Luini, secretary Don Fleming and accountant Alex Wells attended a two-day institute at the Calgary Inn on a new system of hospital accounting.

Fire Inspector Andy O'Toole of the Fire Commissioner's Office in Lethbridge reported that the hospital fire fighting equipment, safety devices and everything pertaining to this department were in very good order.

Administrator Luini reported the hospital is presently operating at approximately 82 per cent occupancy.

He also advised that the new patient lights being installed in all the hospital rooms is almost complete.

Filewich Heads Elks

New officers to head the Coleman Elks Lodge were installed at an open installation conducted by District Deputy Grand Exalted Ruler Erdman of Granum. Assisting with the installation was Past District Deputy Henry Zak, Cecil Coover, Joe Wavrecan, all of Coleman, and the patrol team under Captain Peter Meroniuk.

The new slate includes Exalted Ruler, Paul Filewich; Past Exalted Ruler, John Yeliga; Leading Knight, Ron Collings; Loyal Knight, Peter Walker; Lecturing Knight, Earl Schmidt; Secretary, Mel Cornett.

Treasurer, I. Baras; Historian, Dave Bouthiller; Chaplain, Al Gehman; Esquire, D. Skinner; Tyler, J. Proc; Past Director, Edward Filafilo; Inner Guard, A. Rafferty; Trustees, two year, Peter Meroniuk, and one year, Steve Krzywy and J. Wavrecan.

A social evening and lunch was enjoyed.

Firemen Hold Xmas Party

Old St. Nick was literally mobbed Sunday afternoon when he paid his annual visit to the children of the members of the Coleman Volunteer Fire Brigade at the Christmas party held in the Italian hall.

The afternoon was spent playing games and singing carols, during which time Santa made his appearance and presented each child with a lovely gift and bag of goodies. Hot dogs, pop and coffee were provided for the young people and parents by the brigade.

Dies In Crash

A 25 year old Sentinel man, Stuart Michael Brown, was killed instantly when the car he was driving struck a bridge guard rail near Sentinel at 1:45 p.m. Monday.

He was alone in his car when it struck the guard rail on the bridge over Allison Creek. Snow was drifting heavily at the time of the accident and visibility was poor.

Mr. Brown is survived by his wife Carol and two children. They have resided here for approximately eight months.

Blairmore RCMP are investigating. It has not been decided if an inquest will be held.

The first tree ancestor on earth was the Purophyton which lived nearly 400 million years ago.

U.I.C. Campaign Against Fraud Proving Effective

WINNIPEG — The Unemployment Insurance Commission's step-by-step drive against fraud is paying off.

It was inaugurated by Chief Commissioner J. M. DesRoches, then newly appointed to the position, in February.

Without additional staff but with concentration on improved methods of investigation, the number of checks of claims and the total of detected overpayments, or payments of benefit which had been based on claim statements that cannot be substantiated, is rising significantly.

"It's hard to say whether the principal factor is initiative on our part, or a strong public reaction against fund abuse," said a UIC spokesman.

"Both factors are certainly playing a part."

For the period April 1 to July 31, 1968, there were 47,623 investigations on claims, as compared to 44,629 for the same period in 1967.

Overpayments detected by formal investigations into cases where statements made in claims were suspect amounted to $413,908 from April 1 to July 31, 1968, as compared to $357,484 for the same period of 1967. This represents a 15.8 per cent increase in detected overpayments. At the same time less cases resulting in overpayments were discovered.

The average overpayment in the four month period of 1968 is $99, compared for the equivalent period in 1967. This represents an average increase of $18 per case, or 22.2 per cent.

In July 1968 overpayments detected for the five regions into which the UIC operation is divided were as follows. The figures for July are in brackets.

Atlantic region $10,949 ($10,370); Quebec $38,396 ($33,832); Ontario $19,618 ($11,491); Prairies $14,126 ($8,573); Pacific $6,750 ($4,975).

Over payments detected for the whole of Canada in July 1968 amounted to $89,749, compared to $69,341 in July 1967. This represents an increase overpayment of $20,408 detected, or 29.4 per cent.

The average overpayment per case of abuse was $74 in July

Former Mayor Wm. Burns Dies

Word has been received this week that William Burns, 87, a former mayor of the town of Coleman, passed away in Port Moody December 24th.

Mr. Burns is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Cyril (Dorothy) Lee of Burnaby. Funeral services were held in Port Moody December 28th.

Coleman Enters Two Teams

Henry Zak, chief of the Coleman Volunteer Fire Brigade, announced this week that the local brigade is planning on sending two teams to take part in the Hose Coupling Competitions in Lethbridge.

The indoor event will be held in the Exhibition Buildings January 18th.

Pass In Deep Freeze

Icy winds dipped temperatures to 40 degrees below zero during the Christmas and New Year's holidays, and the only thing high in the district was motorists' tempers and party-goers' spirits.

The cold snap, started a week before Christmas and lasted until January 2nd, when the weather warmed up to the mid 20's.

An average of close to three feet of snow on the level covers the district. Strong winds have caused some drifting of side roads, but town crews and department of highways workmen have kept the main thoroughfares open.

1968 as against $51 in July 1967, an increase of 45 per cent.

There has been a distinct upward trend in the fines imposed by courts on dishonest claimants. In June 1968 five prison terms, without option of fine, were imposed for abuses by claimants, compared with three prison terms without option handed down in June 1967.

In the light of the past six months of the pilot operation, the UIC is now pushing ahead on a larger scale control operation, with an increased staff directed to investigations and extensive use of new criteria.

Report From Parliament Hill

A number of people in the last several weeks have asked me to enlighten them as to what a Member of Parliament does with his time.

The task of a Member of Parliament has grown greatly in the past couple of decades. At one time the Sessions of Parliament lasted only a few months. Even today, most Provincial Legislatures are in session for only two or three months. In comparison, Parliament in the last few years has been sitting for eight or nine months of the year.

Parliament has become a full-time business. Most Members of Parliament consider it as such and many have given up their previous occupations in order to devote all their time to Parliament and their constituency.

As this is being written, consideration is being given in the House of Commons to put Parliament on a regular timetable, roughly equivalent to the school year. This would enable Members to spend a good deal of time during Christmas and the summer in their constituencies. Up to the present there has not been such regularity in the Sessions and Members at times found themselves compelled to attend in Ottawa well into the summer holidays.

When Parliament is in Session there are sittings of the House every days of the week except Saturday and Sunday. On Mondays the sittings commence at 2:30 in the afternoon and continue until 10 p.m., with a one hour break for supper at 7 o'clock. There is also what might be called a special session period after 10 o'clock which can stretch the sitting on for a good deal of time thereafter.

The routine insofar as the time involved is the same on Tuesday and Thursday, as it is on Monday. On Wednesday the sitting commences at 2:30 but lasts only until 6 p.m. The sitting on Friday begins at 11 a.m. and continues until 6 p.m. with break for lunch. In addition to the times when the House is sitting, when Members are expected to be in attendance, there are a number of other obligations which a Member must attend to during the week. The Government Members for instance hold a caucus meeting each Wednesday, which generally lasts from 11 a.m. to 12:45 p.m.

As well as the national caucus, there are also regional caucuses for the purpose of discussing matters which usually affect only a particular region. In the case of the Government, its Members who come from Western Canada, meet every Tuesday from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m.

One of the most important duties of a Member of Parliament is the responsibility to serve on committees of the House of Commons. There are a number of committees which deal with specific matters referred to the Committee by the House. Generally speaking the Committee meetings are held while the House is not sitting, that is between 9 a.m. and 12:30 p.m. This can make for a very full week for Members who are on two or more committees.

How do I fit in to the foregoing routine?

Generally, I spend the week-end at home in the riding. Because of the time change involved I do not arrive in Ottawa in time for any of the proceedings on Monday. Because I am on two committees — National Resources and Public Works and Regional Development, my time in Ottawa is fairly well taken up, when added to the schedule outlined above, is the time necessary to deal with correspondence from the constituency and elsewhere.

Effective January 1, 1969, all mobile equipment coming within the definitions quoted below is again subject to licensing, if such equipment is operated anywhere within the Province except in Cities or National Parks.

Inspectors are constantly in the field checking all such mobile equipment. Any violation of the provisions of the Act may result in court proceedings. Provision is made for the imposition of a fine and possible impoundment of equipment where a violation of the Act occurs.

The following definitions are taken from the Mobile Equipment Licensing Act:

(a) seismographic recording equipment and all appurtenances thereto,

(b) conductor cables and cable reels, geophones, amplifiers and cameras,

(c) explosive and detonating equipment,

(d) drilling units and all the component parts and appurtenances thereof, and

(e) water tanks and pumping equipment, but

(111) does not include

(a) vehicles licensed under The Vehicles and Highway Traffic Act, or the Public Service Vehicles Act, exclusive of mounted equipment on such vehicles, and

(b) equipment, other than vehicle mounted equipment, used to drill a gas or oil well;

(e) "municipality" means a town, village, municipal district, county, improvement district, special area, metis improvement district or forest reserve.

(f) "owner" includes a person renting mobile equipment or having the exclusive use thereof under a rental agreement or otherwise;

NOTE Mobile Equipment having an original list price of less than $2,000 does not require a license under this Act.

The other day, I read a column in the Red Deer Advocate, written by Nancy Millar, which I thought had a rather timely message and might be of interest to you ladies who are plagued with the tussle and bustle of the Holiday Season

each year.

Once upon a time, there was a beautiful princess disguised as a Canadian homemaker. She was called Mrs. Jones.

She was always busy but particularly so at Christmas time, since she tried to do all the things
other Canadian homemakers do.
Now and then, she thought rebel-lously to herself that Cinderella wasn't so badly off — after all, she got to sit in the corner by the fire now and then.

With only a week to go before Christmas, Mrs. Jones was really going out of her mind. She still had to finish an apron for Granny Nolan, knit a sweater for the dog and find a gift for Uncle Joe "who has everything".

She had to re-brand the cakes make 10 dozen buns, six dozen shaped ice cookies and two dozen marzipan.

She hadn't cleaned her house from the top to the bottom — and real Canadian homemakers seemed to set some store by that practice. Then there was the tree to put up and decorate, a front door ornament that required hours and 135 crystal balls to finish, and the eternal problem of "What to do with the Christmas cards?"

And she would have to finish a cunning red toilet seat for the bathroom.

On top of everything else, there was a party on Christmas Eve and she had to finish a dress for the occasion, get a permanent, and somehow find a sitter for the children.

Speaking of children, they too were adding to the seasonal stresses of Mrs. Jones since they continually exhibited an unbecoming "gimme" attitude.

It was if the midnight hour would strike any minute, and she, Mrs. Jones, would be revealed in the tatters of "Christmas Unprepared".

Finally she could stand no more.
"It is too much for human endurance, let alone princess endurance," she wailed and cried as if her heart would break.

Her fairy godmother, unable to bear the unhappiness of the princess any longer, suddenly appeared in a puff of smoke and waved her magic wand.

"Abacadabra, restore Mrs.
Jones to her rightful mind."

And sure enough, that's exactly what happened. "I may be a princess in disguise," the Canadian homemaker said to herself, "but I'm not now, or ever have been,
a superwoman."

Right then and there, she established the priorities of Christmas
— the priorities of love and goodwill toward others, homage and gratitude for the birth of Christ.

Keeping these in mind, she wrote a letter to Granny Nolan and sent her a picture of the family — all of which meant much more to Granny than another apron.

She gave the dog a pat, and she sent $10 to a charity in Uncle Joe's name.

She ordered the rest of her baking, and realized her house didn't need cleaning from top to bottom.

She had a good laugh at the idea of a toilet seat cover —

cunning or not — and decided to leave the Christmas cards in a bowl on the table where everyone might enjoy them.

She also decided to skip the Christmas Eve party in favor of church attendance with the chilren, since the attitudes and understandings are best taught by example.

She suddenly thought of many more meaningful ways to observe Christmas, and you may believe it, but Mrs. Jones and all the little Joneses lived happily ever after.

... a consumer-

adviser-promoter?

Consumers and producers both benefit from Mrs. Linda Pickell's services. As Products Promotion Officer with the Information Branch of the Alberta Department of Agriculture, Linda keeps consumers informed, through her radio and television broadcasts, on good food selection, best buys in season and new products available. At the same time, she promotes Alberta products, widening market prospects for local industry. In addition to Mrs. Pickell's broadcasts, the Information Branch keeps the public informed on activities in agriculture through releases to press, radio and television and daily farm broadcasts over 11 rural stations in the province.

... a poultry room-and-board
authority?

Jim McCowan and his fellow workers at the Provincial Poultry Plant work to improve living conditions for Alberta's chickens. Right now, they're carrying out a density study, to determine how many birds can be raised efficiently in a specified area, and tests to find out the most economical types of feeds.
Experimental programs, such as the testing of commercial feeds recommended by manufacturers for broiler feeding programs, are carried out at the request of, and for the benefit of, the province's poultry industry by the Poultry Branch, Animal Industry Division, Alberta Department of Agriculture. The Branch also provides an extension program to keep producers informed on the latest developments in the industry, and carries out regular

have you ever met...

... a better-
health-habit
former?

Alberta community leaders who are concerned over health problems in their areas can enlist the assistance of Leo F. Marmer, in developing public health education programs. As Director of the Branch of Public Health Education, Alberta Department of Health, Mr. Marmer plans and prepares educational programs designed to help overcome such problems as air, soil and water pollution, noise pollution, accidental poisoning, and venereal disease. These programs which include film strips, films, literature and other training aids, are made available through local medical health offices to hospitals, schools, community organizations and other interested agencies.
Through evaluation of the problems, and the preparation of programs outlining their solutions,
the Branch of Public Health Education makes a valuable contribution to the good health of our province.

... a government
informer?

It's Mrs. Jean Rogerson's job to keep the public informed on government activities and she accomplishes this through the pages of "Within Our Borders" a monthly publication of the Alberta Government Publicity Bureau. Four Information Officers within the Bureau, including Mrs. Rogerson, cover all departments of government, reporting on new developments in government services. Their stories are published in the periodical, which is distributed free to anyone requesting it. At the present time, "Within Our Borders" has a circulation in the neighborhood of 25,000 and is distributed throughout the world, even behind the Iron Curtain.

... a wages protector?

John Peters is one of the 25 men in Alberta who are paid to keep an eye on payrolls and working conditions at all firms in the province. They are inspectors of the Alberta Department of Labour's Board of Industrial Relations and they inspect the payrolls of employers regularly to make sure each employee is receiving his correct wages, vacation and holiday pay. Visits to 13,000 firms in 1967 resulted in $314,000 paid to employers who might not otherwise have received the money due to error, evasion or neglect by the employer. The inspections also assist employers by keeping them better informed of their responsibilities under labour legislation and to protect them from unjustified claims. The inspectors also ensure that other general working conditions such as safety, health and welfare are up to standard.

... an instructor
of outdoor enjoyment?

Alberta's wide variety of geographical and climatic features offers a wealth of outdoor recreational opportunities. To help residents take advantage of these natural resources, Neil Andrews offers a training program to youth service organizations, community recreation leaders and other interested groups. As Outdoor Recreation Supervisor for the Recreation Branch, Alberta Department of Youth, he is prepared to organize programs in such subjects as wilderness camping, mountaineering, snow-shoeing, bird-watching and canoeing, to name just a few. Outdoor recreation is just one aspect of the assistance provided by the Recreation Branch in developing programs of constructive sports, recreation and leisure activities.
